PATENT JOINT
Oil Well Tubing.
This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets, and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint; and the absence of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.
Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,500 pounds to the square inch.

The Twelfth of July.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE ORANGE CELEBRATION—WILL THERE BE A RIOT?—STATISTICS AND ORGANIZATION OF THE PROTESTANT IRISHMEN—THE IRISH CATHOLICS AND THEIR LITTLE TARGET EXCURSION—SECRET MEETING YESTERDAY—A TIMELY CHRISTIAN ADMONITION FROM ARCHBISHOP M'CLOSKEY.

From the N. Y. Standard.

Wednesday next, the anniversary of a signal triumph of the Protestant over the Catholic element in Ireland, threatens to be a bloody day in New York. Following, their custom, certain Irish Protestants, and especially the societies or lodges of Orangemen propose to march in procession through the public streets, and to hold a public festival in honor of the triumph of William Prince of Orange over James the Second at the battle of Aughrim. This proposition is resisted by large masses of the Irish Catholics who are disposed to receive as an insult the celebration in this free land of an event whose mention always kindles bad blood among our Celtic population. The latter have appealed to the municipal authorities to suppress the parade, but the authorities probably doubt their authority to interpose a check on proceedings which merely tend to provoke riot. Should the Orangemen propose an attack on their Catholic neighbors they would of course be restrained by the police, but when they merely propose to walk the streets peacefully, it is difficult to find the breach of law which authorizes their stoppage, more than any other of the numerous processions which parade in our streets. The violence apprehended is expected to have its initiation among the opponents of the Orangemen, men who make a religious duty of parading on the annual anniversary of their own religious organization. If there was warrant for it the police authorities would doubtless prefer that the parade should be prohibited; then no chance of riot would be likely to occur. But the stoppage of the Orange procession would logically call for the suppression of all other religious parades, a conclusion which would be apt to receive the dissent of those most opposed to the Orangemen.

INTENTIONS OF THE ORANGEMEN

As revealed by the statement of the Grandmaster of the Orangemen in America, Mr. John J. Bond, the lodges have determined, in opposition to his wishes and advice, to parade, though it is evident a very strenuous effort will be made to attack them. This gentleman informed a reporter of a Sunday paper that members of the order have received many threatening letters, and he believes only by great vigilance and decision on the part of the police can an attack upon them by the Irish Catholic societies be prevented. Mr. Bond states that for three years he has been the chief officer of the Orange Order. It was originally a branch of the Lodge in England. He procured its separation from that organization, and after taking the advice of the Secretary of State of the United States, who advised him the Lodge had the same right to exist as any other secret society, so long as it was loyal to the United States. The Order in this country is now independent of its parent order in Great Britain, and its chief officer thus states its public

"GENERAL DECLARATION.

"At all times nothing can be more natural, and at this time nothing can be more reasonable, than that those who have common rights to protect and common interests to defend should act together and know each other.

"It is by division that the benevolent objects of true patriots are frustrated, and their best and noblest efforts for the public good defeated.

"In this great republic it must be obvious to every loyal and reflecting mind that a union of intelligence and increase of means, and a knowledge of each other, are essential.

"The Loyal Orange Institution of the United States of America is formed by persons desirous of supporting to the utmost of their power the principles and precepts of the Protestant religion, to maintain the laws and Constitution of the country, afford assistance to the distressed members of the order, and otherwise to promote such laudable and benevolent purposes as may tend to the due ordering of religion and Christian charity and the supremacy of law, order and constitutional freedom.

"Its members associate in honor of William Henry, Prince of Orange, whose name they bear and whose memory they revere, tending as he did under Divine Providence, to the overthrow of the most oppressive bigotry and the restoration of religious freedom, and hope in the adoption of his name to emulate his virtues by maintaining religion without persecution or trenching upon the rights of any. They also assemble in the name and revere the memory of George Washington, believing him to be blessed by Almighty God, in raising as a last tribute to his memory, the universal freedom, both civil and religious, of this country to the end of time. Likewise do they revere the memory of Abraham Lincoln, as one whom the people of this country should forever remember as the great liberator of a section of the human race.

"The Orange Institution lays no claim to exclusive Protestantism or exclusive loyalty, but it admits no man or body of men within its pale whose creed is not Protestant and whose principles are not loyal. Disclaiming an intolerant spirit, the Institution demands, as an indispensable qualification, without which the greatest and wealthiest men may seek admission in vain. 'That the candidate shall be believed to be incapable of persecuting or injuring any person on account of his religious opinions'—the duty of every Orangeman being to aid and defend all loyal citizens of every religious persuasion in the enjoyment of the constitutional rights.

"The whole Institution is one neighborhood, within which every Orangeman is at home in the furthest part of the world, and such is the mechanism of the Institution, that while its operations are thus extended, its every movement is alike felt and answered in every part.

"In short the Orange Institution, like a glorious morning luminary, is intended to pour its refulgence not on one part only of the circumference of the globe, but simultaneously on every portion, equally enlightening the whole periphery.

"As the Prince of Orange was invited to England by a condition of parties, who were united by a common sense of their sacred duty to preserve their civil and religious liberty, and as the Pilgrim Fathers were united in their earnest and zealous principles of freedom when approaching the shores of this free land to maintain herein those sacred rights forever, and as the immortal memories of Washington and Lincoln, one sacredly held by all true patriots as being worthy the veneration of good men in and of every free land; so likewise doth the Loyal Orange Institution behove all zealous and earnest Protestants to rally round one common standard of freedom, composed of colors which have hitherto been borne through fields of fire and blood, on to the goal of victory, on behalf of civil and religious freedom. The orange and purple, combined with the American Stars and Stripes, doth enjoy the suitable motto—'In God We Trust'—upon all loyal and worthy Protestants.

"By order and consent of the Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of the United States.

"JOHN J. BOND, Grand Master."

Mr. Bond avers that his order has no political aim, and that politics are never discussed in the lodges. Their forms and teachings are taken from the Scriptures, and resemble those of the Masonic order

THE COMING PARADE.

Reporter: Now, as to another matter—the coming parade about which there is so much talk. Are you determined to parade?

Mr. Bond: We are. I, myself, did not think it best to do so, as there seems to be such a vast amount of opposition to it; but the members are determined, as they say that though there be peril they will not sacrifice their rights because another body of men are determined to oppose them. We are going to carry our banners as usual, but we deny that they are inflammatory or that they in any way tend to breed disturbance.

Reporter: Do you personally anticipate trouble?

HE ANTICIPATES TROUBLE.

Mr. Bond: I do. I understand that about six thousand men are under arms to prevent our parading, and as, on the other hand, we are determined to parade, a collision seems inevitable.

Reporter: What will you do if you are attacked?

Mr. Bond, Well, we shan't run that is certain; and if blood is shed may it fall on the heads of those who shed it. As for myself I could not shed the blood of a fellow-being, and never shall under any circumstances. But at the same time, though my private opinion is we had better not parade, if others do, I shall, and risk whatever fate may befall me.

Reporter: It is your opinion that you will be attacked?

Mr. Bond: I have very little doubt that such an attack will be made. It simply depends upon the police to prevent our being murdered and stoned to death, as some of our number were last year. That the Irishmen are determined to do something of this kind the threatening letters they send amply prove.

No picnic is intended this year; simply a parade, and Mr. Bond says it is not intended to play any of the music to which the Catholic Irish object. He does not know the words of the song "Croppies Lie Down," and says that their common songs have nothing in them which he can see to be calculated to offend the Catholics. They mostly praise the virtues of William of Orange and the Protestant cause. The 12th of July, chosen as the holiday of the order, is the anniversary of the battle of Aughrim in 1690, six days after that of the Boyne.

STRENGTH OF THE ORDER.

He states that there are in New York thirteen lodges, with about one thousand members, about fifteen lodges outside of the city, besides a Supreme Lodge, of which he is Master, and two District Lodges, called Abraham Lincoln and Prince of Orange.

About fifteen hundred members of the American Protestant Association, a similar organization, are expected to join in the procession, and some thirteen hundred sympathizers, not attached to the order.

HISTORY OF THE ORGANIZATION.

Though of quite recent date in this country, the order has been long known in Ireland. It was formed, as near as we can learn, in the north of that island, in the year 1795, by loyal Irishmen, who believed that on the governmental connection of Ireland with Great Britain depended all hope of religious liberty. Before this date persons holding the same sentiments had been associated together under such names as Bright Boys, Dark Boys, Peep o' Day Boys and Hearts of Steel Boys. In September, 1795, subsequent to the battle at Diamond in County Westmeath they consolidated under their present name. During the years that succeeded, including 1798, that of the great Irish Rebellion, these Orangemen were closely identified with the English troops, and fought openly against their Catholic neighbors. These days were often marked with scenes of horrible cruelty and barbarous persecution of helpless women and children, such as naturally fostered a spirit of extreme hatred between the two factions. After a series of fiendish enormities on the part of the British and Orangemen the rebels displayed a black flag in Wexford. After a battle, in which they took several prisoners, whom they confined in Scalabogus, it was fired and the prisoners burned.

Nearly every Protestant in the County Wexford became enrolled as a member of the Orange Society, bound by its oaths and communicating by signs, armed with all the formidable terrors of a secret and irresponsible order. Principal among their obligations are those to support the sovereign of Great Britain and to do all in their power to suppress the Catholic religion. Songs, intended to exasperate their enemies, such as "Croppies, lie Down," which carries a threat that only Orangemen shall carry arms, while Catholics shall every one lie down and be cut asunder, and others of like import, became common, and contributed greatly in keeping up the deep animosity between the two classes of Irishmen.

FORBIDDEN TO WALK.

Though firm supporters of the British crown, so disorderly was the conduct of this order, that they were by law restrained from parading, or "walking," as it was called, on the anniversaries of the battle of the Boyne or of Aughrim. In spite of the law, however, processions were frequently held, and not rarely resulted in riot and bloodshed. Early in this century Orange lodges were formed at various places in this country, such as in New York, Philadelphia, Newark and Patterson, who specially revived the memory of King William III. In 1824 they undertook to celebrate the battle of Aughrim by a procession. At the junction of Thirteenth street and Eighth avenue they were met by a party of Catholic Irish. A fierce battle ensued, in which over fifty persons were wounded and the Orangemen were routed. For many years this check apparently stopped the spread of the order in this country, and it is generally supposed that the organization actually died out until its reintroduction about four years ago.

THE FIGHT LAST YEAR.

On the 12th of July last year occurred the first parade of the Orangemen for many years. This order assembled on that day at their various lodge-rooms from which they marched in procession to Elm Park for a picnic, having in company a large number of women and children. It is said that as they passed a company of Irish laborers on the Boulevard in the vicinity of Eighth avenue and Fifty-ninth street, the bands of the procession played airs calculated to rouse the indignation of the Catholics, and they were further excited by approbious remarks and shouts, but the procession passed without violence. Some time after, while the Orangemen were in Elm Park, they were attacked by the laborers with stones and pistols. In the fight which ensued five persons were killed, one of them a boy who was passing and not at all connected with the quarrel.

CATHOLIC PREPARATIONS

Since the announcement of the intention of the Orange orders to parade on the 12th, the Irish citizens of the adverse faith have been industriously preparing to prevent the demonstration. Numerous requests have been addressed to the Mayor, Police Superintendent and other officials, asking the celebration to be stopped. These not producing the desired replies, it appears that leading Irishmen have undertaken to stop the Orange procession by force, or intimidating. For several days certain papers have contained advertisements inviting the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to meet at specified places to organize for a target excursion early next week. Meetings have been held frequently at Hibernia Hall, No. 42 Prince street, resulting in the organization of the

HIBERNIAN NATIONAL VOLUNTEERS.

Reports from the various branches have been returned, showing their total number to be about 7,917.

The above is the number actually known to be organized, and in addition to these there are many other associations for the same purpose not connected with the above nor included in these figures, so that it is reasonable to infer that not less than twelve thousand Irish Catholics are specially banded together for the express purpose of resisting the proposed Orange celebration.

Their meetings on Saturday night were largely attended, and the principal business was drilling in the school of the soldier. The members were directed to meet this evening for further instruction and to be ready to march on Wednesday.

In one of the meetings the men were cautioned to abstain from drinking on Wednesday and to do their duty strictly 'like men if it be shooting Orangemen.' A simple target excursion is the ostensible occasion of this demonstration. When asked whether it has any reference to the Orange procession, the members of the A. O. H. profess ignorance of the celebration of their opponents, but occasionally say, "Well, it may be they will have a target excursion too as well as we."

THE AUTHORITIES.

Police Superintendent Kelso and his subordinates have prepared to the best of their ability to use the Department in the preservation of the peace. All the force will be under arms, and every measure which prudence can provide will be taken to prevent a collision between those two excited and unreasonable factions of our Irish citizens. Mayor Hall expresses his conviction that there will be no outbreak. It is understood that Gen. Shafer has been requested to hold in readiness a few trusty regiments, such as the Seventh, Seventy-ninth (Scotch,) and some German regiments.

Another Railroad Horror.

ACCIDENT ON THE NEWARK AND NEW YORK RAILROAD—A MISPLACED SWITCH AND WHAT CAME OF IT—FIVE KILLED AND TWENTY INJURED—CORONER'S INQUEST—VERDICT AGAINST THE SWITCHTENDER.

From the New York Tribune.

The community was startled on Saturday by tidings of a terrible accident on the Newark and New York Railroad, under circumstances which indicate criminal carelessness on the part of an inexperienced employee of the company. The scene of the slaughter is known as Brill's farm, about two miles east of the Ferry street station, Newark. The railroad at this point extends across low marshy meadow land bordering on the Passaic River, and is built on dykes, with ditches twenty feet wide, filled with water on each side. An extension of the railroad to Elizabeth is now constructing and a portion of the track is already laid, connecting by switch with the main road. The switch is seldom used, and the rails are generally spiked down so that they cannot be moved, but on Saturday morning it was shifted so as to allow a gravel train to pass into the gravel pit, and the switchman, William Thompson, had neglected to readjust the switch, leaving the main track from Newark open. At 5.05 a. m. the train from Newark, consisting of four passenger cars, the locomotive Plainfield, and tender, came sweeping along the track at a speed of 30 miles an hour. When within 100 yards of the point of danger, the engineer, Frank Kerman, saw that the signal target was turned with the danger side toward him, and sounded the whistle several times for "down brakes." The switchman made a dash for his post, and had

THE country will wait with anxiety for the result of the Orange celebration in New York to-day, and its threatened disturbance by certain Catholic societies. We furnish the arrangements and the indication of events on our first page. Last year, on a similar occasion, innocent blood was shed, and our free institutions scandalized. It is to be hoped that this outrage will not be perpetrated again, but that better counsels will prevail.

THE summer carnival at Saratoga Springs and Lake George has been duly inaugurated. Ordinary and extraordinary characters are flocking in at these great focuses of fashion in large numbers. The crowd at these places this summer will be immense. There were over five hundred arrivals at Saratoga on Saturday last. The Clarendon Hotel received two foreign counts and two dukes, with their families and relations, who are en route to Lake George.

A PEDESTRIAN TOURIST.—The Suspension Bridge Journal of Saturday last has the following: "Arrived, on the evening of June 29th, a gentleman of means, an Englishman by birth, and put up at the Montcalm House. He left Boston the 4th of June, distance 520 miles, and walked to this place in twelve days. He takes this way of seeing the country. He carries a valise and contents, which weigh fifty pounds, strapped on his back. He says that he came from the old country purposely to see this country, and prefers to view it on foot, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, that when he arrives back to England he can give a full description of this country to his friends. June 30th he left the Montcalm on his journey through Canada to Chicago, from there to Omaha and San Francisco to his journey's end. He will return by rail to New York, thence he will take steamer again to England.

HURRICANE AT ELMIRA, N. Y.—The Advertiser gives an account of a violent rain and wind storm in that city on Sunday last about six o'clock. Trees were blown down, houses unroofed, chimneys demolished, and fences, arbors and lattices laid low to the ground. The wind came from the west, and was most violent in the western and southern portions of the city. The Advertiser facetiously concludes its report of casualties with: "The storm came up quickly, did its work quickly, and quickly passed away. After the storm had passed the sun for a few moments peeped out from behind the clouds where he had been hiding his face. He concluded to take a look at things before retiring for the night. He found that a great change had taken place in a very short time. The gardens all looked sick, and the trees looked discouraged, while some of the people looked mad.

A JUST VERDICT.—We related the other day the accidental killing of a peaceable and inoffensive citizen of Buffalo on the Fourth of July, by the discharge of a pistol in the public streets, by a young man who just wanted a little fun and did not mean any harm!! The sad accident should be a warning against the use of dangerous firearms at any time, and we see by the Coroner's inquest in this case that the jury intend to make an example of young Emery and punish him severely for this wanton and careless act. Such a verdict will exercise a wholesome restraint upon those who are altogether reckless on such occasions as the Fourth, and seem to have no respect for the feelings and rights of others, who are put in fear by their demonstrations. The jury, after deliberating an hour on the evidence, rendered their verdict as follows:

That the said John W. Davock came to his death by a shot fired from a pistol in the hands of James Emery, on the evening of July the 4th, 1871, a little after eight o'clock, while on the sidewalk in front of said Emery's premises, No. 93 West Genesee street, in the city of Buffalo; and the said shot inflicting such a wound in the body of said John W. Davock as to cause his death about an hour thereafter at the house of Mrs. Haven, No. 97 Genesee street, said shooting having been done in a culpable and negligent manner; and the said jurors charge the said James Emery with the crime of manslaughter; and the said jurors do further say that the public safety demands a more stringent and thorough execution of the laws by the proper authorities to prevent such reckless and careless use of fire arms on the 4th of July and other days.

A decision of great importance has just been announced by the Court of Claims, which effects numerous cases and involves large sums of money, held by the Secretary of the Treasury under similar circumstances as those leading to this suit. Certain parties brought action in the Court of Claims, wherein a decree was rendered April 13, 1868, adjudging them entitled to $9,034 44, being the net proceeds of their property found by the court remaining in the United States Treasury. The Secretary of the Treasury assumed to annul the decree of the court, and paid only a portion of the judgment, leaving $723 32 unpaid, wherefore the claimants brought action for this amount due upon the former decree. The court decided that the Secretary of the Treasury had no more right than a private individual to disregard an order of the court, and adjudged that the balance due be paid at once.

New York News.

NEW YORK, July 11.

The Orangemen of Jersey are fully resolved to parade to-morrow. They have organized and prepared for this turnout, and will do all they can to preserve peace and order. The Hibernians are also firmly determined to oppose them. A number of lodges of Orangemen who were to have paraded in New York intend to join the Jersey City procession. The Police Commissioners have taken the necessary steps to prevent a riot, and all the militia have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to preserve order. In view of this State of affairs Governor Randolph has issued the following proclamation:

TRENTON, N. J., July 11.

Proclamation by Theo. F. Randolph, Governor of New Jersey:

The Constitution of the State of New Jersey enumerates among other rights and privileges that the people have a right to freely assemble together. It also proclaims that no person shall be denied the enjoyment of any civil right merely on account of his religious privileges. It also makes the Governor of the State commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the State, and under his oath of office makes it his duty to promote peace and prosperity and maintain the rights of the State.

Now, it having come to my knowledge that a body of inhabitants of this State, in conformity to a custom among them and in consonance with a custom of other bodies and societies of inhabitants of this State, propose to celebrate what to them is deemed an anniversary day, and it having come to my knowledge that interference with this contemplated celebration may possibly take place, by reason of which a serious disturbance of the peace of this State would probably ensue,

Now, therefore, I, Theodore F. Randolph, Governor of the State of New Jersey, do hereby proclaim that both the letter and the spirit of the institution of our State of New Jersey as well as a long established custom of our people, do permit and protect all peaceful gatherings of inhabitants of this State, irrespective of religious or political creeds, and makes it a lawful right of any body of peaceful citizens to assemble together, and that this right cannot be abridged or interfered with by any unauthorized body of men of any nationality, creed or religion, whatever real or supposed provocation there may seem to be, and I do therefore enjoin upon all good law-abiding and peaceful citizens of this our State of New Jersey to assist in every way in preserving the peace, good order and dignity of the same, not only by abstinence from provocation, but by acts of toleration, forbearance and true manliness, and I do hereby warn all persons from other States who seek by acts of provocation to interfere with the peaceful assembling of the inhabitants of this State, that such offence against the peace and good order of the Commonwealth will be rigorously punished by our authorities; and I do further enjoin and command all legally constituted authorities of this State to fully protect all peaceful assemblages of our inhabitants, using every means in their command to enforce this proclamation, assuring all such properly constituted authorities that in the event of the insufficiency of the ordinary local power, then the entire power of the State will, if necessary, be called into exercise to compel, at any cost, respect for and obedience to our laws; and I do further enjoin, upon members of the society especially proposing to assemble together to-morrow, to exercise the utmost patience, care and discretion in pursuance of their rights, bearing in mind that by a large portion of our fellow citizens the peculiar occasion of their gathering is deemed an unnecessary revival of an ancient and political feud, of no general interest to the great body of our American citizens, and that though they are sustained in their right to peacefully assemble together, they are by no means sustained, as I firmly believe, by any large number of sincerely patriotic and Christian people in the inexpediency of the exercise of that right.

The police are still confident that the Orange parade will take place to-morrow. The entire force of reserves will assemble at the central office at 6 a. m., and will on the first notice of an outbreak be transferred by stages to the scene of disturbance. The ordinance and sanitary police and detective force will all be used as reserves, but the available force will not exceed 1,100 men. Every man will carry a revolver, and a supply of other arms was received at headquarters to-day. Captain Wilson's mounted police, over 100 men, will be on duty for any emergency with revolvers and sabres. The whole surgical force of the police department is ordered on duty at 6 a. m to-morrow. It is understood in police circles that the burglars and highwaymen of the city have formed a combination to make a simultaneous raid on jewelry and dry goods stores during the concentration of the police at the place of riot.

Information has been received that large numbers of thieves are leaving other cities for New York in view of the riot which is expected to take place. Mayor Hall and Kelso have been in communication with Maj Gen Shaler in respect to the necessity for a military force to aid the police, and shortly after noon to-day Gen. Shaler issued orders to a number of regiments ordering them to rendezvous to-morrow at their respective armories for the preservation of the public peace. Gen. Shaler this afternoon declined to say how many troops would be under arms, but he said he had been careful to call out a number sufficient to meet any emergency. Col. Clark, of the Seventh Regiment, has ordered his regiment to assemble at their armory in fatigue dress to-morrow at 7 a. m. Gen. Dakin, of the Fifth Brigade, has ordered the Ninth Regiment to assemble at their headquarters, in Brooklyn, to-morrow morning, fully uniformed, armed and equipped for active duty in aid of the civil authority.

A committee was appointed at a meeting of the Produce Exchange this afternoon to draft resolutions condemnatory of the action of Superintendent Kelso, to be submitted to an indignation meeting to be held to-morrow. The Grocers' Board of Trade, designed to include in its membership brokers, dealers and importers of all kinds of groceries, met to day and received the report of the committee appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws. After full discussion the committee adjourned one week in order that the report may be printed and circulated among the members.

WILMINGTON, N. C, July 11.

A fearful butchery was perpetrated in Robeson county, yesterday afternoon, by Henry Berry Dowrey and a band of negroes. A sheriff's posse, having in charge Lowrey's wife and several other prisoners who had been aiding and abetting the negroes, were ambuscaded near Bun's store, on the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad, and the following of the sheriff's posse were killed and wounded: Killed—Hector McMillan, Archibald Brown and Hector McNeil. Wounded—K McCormick, B Barnes and James Lowrey, the latter a colored man and a cousin of Lowrey, but co-operating with the sheriff's posse. The fight resolved itself into a regular battle, which lasted for some time. The sheriff's posse followed the negroes into the recesses of a swamp. It is not certain if any of the outlaws are killed. The whole county of Robeson is aroused, and it is believed that a campaign will now be inaugurated that will result in the extermination of the band. A committee of citizens of Robeson county came to this city to-day to secure arms and ammunition.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, July 11.

Gold was dull and heavy, opening at 112¼@112¾, and closing at 112¾@112¼. It will go lower if Boutwell places his 5 per cent loan in Europe, as it is rumored he has done this evening. He was in the street to-day, and visited some leading bankers.

1 and 2 per cent was paid for carrying.

Clearances $51,000,000.

Government are weak, both on account of lower gold and the absence of any demand from foreign bankers. Quotations are barely maintained.

Stocks are excited and feverish, especially for Lake Shore, Northwestern Ohio, Mississippi and Rock Island. The bears exerted all their efforts upon these stocks to create a panic, but they failed the moment the loans stopped off. New York Central, Hudson River, Reading and Western Union did only fair. Towards the close the market became dull from ½ to 1½ per cent from the lowest point of the day, closing steady. Railroads are cheerful, and looking for higher prices They say money will remain abundant, and speculation must break out. Loans in this country and in Europe before June, as accumulation of wealth in money centres can only be used by general speculation and inflation of values.

Money easy at 3 per cent

The feature in State securities has been Missouris, which sold up to 98 on the first call; the remainder of the list dull and steady.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, July 10.

The dry goods market is quiet but firm, with a buoyant tone. Prints Eclipse and Reynolds A A do are advanced from 1½ to 1¾; Dudham from 10½ to 11c; Mass mville calicoes, cambrics and Slaters are firmer and are advanced from 1½ to 12c. Thus from the to day some class of textiles keep advancing, even in the height of the dull season, which is a sure indication that the market will open strong, when business becomes more animated.

PETIT LARCENY.—George Marshall was arrested on Monday night, and arraigned before Justice Strouse yesterday, for stealing a pair of pants, a gold ring, and a knife, from one of his fellow boarders. He pleaded guilty, and was fined fifty dollars and costs.

A NEW RAILROAD SWITCH.—The Union and Titusville Road, have in process of construction a new switch, commencing a little above Washington street, and which will terminate at the Titusville City mill, on Franklin street. The rails have already been laid half the distance.

ON Monday, officer Doherty arrested H Crea and wife for keeping a house of ill-fame, on a warrant sworn out by a Mr. Shields. The case was to come before the Justice yesterday, but Mr. Shields has disappeared and cannot be found. It is supposed that Mr. Crea has influenced him to keep out of the way.

BITUMINOUS SHALE GAS.—At Denver, Colorado five hundred feet of illuminating gas was made in half an hour from bituminous shale, which is said to abound in that locality. The gas was manufactured upon the same principle as ordinary coal gas, by placing the shale in a retort, and heating to redness.

PREMATURE GRAY HAIR.—Dr. Sibbet can in all cases prevent the hair from becoming prematurely gray, and can, in a majority of cases, restore prematurely gray hairs to their natural color, by a proper combination of a few vegetable ingredients. The Doctor can be found at the Mansion House from 2 to 8 p. m.

IT will be seen that the Crescent Tube Works, of Pittsburg, have secured the services of Mr. E. W. Stratton, late of the firm of Bryan, Dillingham & Co., as their agent in this region. Mr. Stratton is a wide-awake, energetic business man, and is an acquisition to the establishment with which he has connected himself

DENIER'S NOVELTY THEATRE.—The performance at this theatre last evening was very entertaining and was witnessed by a good house. The business of this little theatre has rapidly increased since its opening, until is now nearly double, showing conclusively that the class of entertainment given is becoming popular. Some of our best citizens attend this theatre, thereby testifying their approval of the enterprise.

MR HALL'S PATENT WRITING TABLE.—Mr. John Hall is spending a little time in our city introducing into our leading hotels his patent writing table, in the top or back of which are framed and inserted business cards, painted on glass, an excellent and ingenious advertising medium, which many of our business men are liberally patronizing. Mr. Hall is agent of J. S. Morgan & Co, of New York city.

ANOTHER RACE.—There will be a race on the Titusville Driving Park, on Wednesday, July 19, 1871, for a purse of $200, mile heats, best three in five to harness The race will be between E R. Perkins' br. m. Lillie, Frank Fowler's gr. g. Frank Forrester, and A. S Hubbard's br. g Grant. It will be remembered that these horses were the three that were distanced in the first heat on the Fourth, but by permission of the owners of the winning horses they were allowed to enter the remaining heats. Frank Forrester took third money in the above race.

BURGLARY AT ENTERPRISE.—On Monday night last, a bold and adroit burglary was committed at the town of Enterprise. The office of B. D. Benson & Co. was broken into and his safe blown open and rifled of $60 in money, a quantity of the embryo Tidioute and Titusville road bonds, etc. We may conclude that a gang of burglars are prowling round this region, provided with the instruments of their illicit work, and on the look-out for opportunities for making depredations on private property. It may be well for people to be on their guard and take extra precaution for security, and to sleep with "one eye open," and a peace-maker close at hand. We learn by later intelligence that no money was abstracted, but was accidentally overlooked by the burglars.

WOODLAWN CEMETERY.—It is to be hoped that the parties addressed in the card of Messrs. Coutant & Webster will see the importance of promptude in paying their subscriptions, or of subscribing, if they have not already done so, to the furtherance of this beneficial local enterprise. A visit to the grounds will satisfy every one that the improvements made and in progress are marked by most excellent taste and good judgment. The pride and affection which nearly all our cities exhibit in the laying out and embellishment of their cemeteries is very noteworthy, and now that our our city has assumed a character of permanence and stability, and hundred of families look upon Titusville as their home, we should all feel a common interest in the success of Woodlawn Cemetery so beautiful for situation and in which a cultivated art has only brought out in more striking relief the capabilities and various charms of nature.

Sanitary Precautions.

It is high time that some decided and imperative measures should be adopted to enforce the sanitary ordinances for the abatement of nuisances, more particularly as there is no saying how soon we may be visited by the terrible epidemic which is now raging in Erie. The accumulation of putrescent filth in the rear lots of our principal streets, caused by throwing garbage and decaying animal and vegetable matter on the surface of the ground, has, during the past ten days, filled the atmosphere with odoriferous and pestilential vapors, highly offensive, as well as prejudicial to the public health. Added to this, is the absence of sewerage, and the consequent establishment of open cess-pools, or outhouses, to every building. Very few of these vaults have ever been cleaned out since they were constructed, and a still less number have been disinfected. The most unobserving cannot fail to realize the extreme danger of such a condition of affairs. We notice that the Boards of Health in various cities are actively engaged in hearing complaints, making inquiries and personal inspections, and giving prompt and summary orders for the suppression of nuisances, and for the thorough renovation of streets, alleys, stables, by-ways, etc. The Health Committee of our Common Council should also see that the sanitary regulations of Titusville are strictly complied with, and each householder, as a matter of public safety, should at once be compelled to remove all garbage and offensive matter from his premises, or the front, rear, or either side of his lot, or at least have it heaped up in such a manner that the city authorities could remove it, with the least possible expense. Those of our citizens who are aggrieved in this respect, particularly the occupants of crowded tenements, boarding houses, and hotels, should enter formal complaint against any disregard of their health and comfort, in the care and management of the houses and premises in which they live, or in their vicinity. Immaculate cleanliness in our dwelling houses, grounds and surroundings, has become a matter of immediate and imperative necessity, and the police should be instructed to see that the orders of the health committee are rigidly enforced. With reference to the vexed question of cesspools, there are a great variety of disinfectants, possessing more or less power and efficacy in destroying or neutralizing the effluvia from these mines of disease. We must, however, look at economy as well as efficacy, in the selection of such agents. Infectious matter is a vapor of fine dust, and any attempt to successfully combat the virus contained therein, must be by a volatile substance, which will also pervade the atmosphere for a considerable distance. Carbolic acid has no superior in this respect. It has received the fullest endorsement from the highest medical authorities, and has now become an extensive article of manufacture and of commerce for this purpose. The crude article is the best, and it is very cheap. It can be obtained in the drug stores. Carbolate of lime is also manufactured and used for the same purpose, but it is more expensive and less powerful. To destroy all virus, or odor in a vault, throw in a few pints of crude carbolic acid, with a pail of water to each pint, and then cover it with a layer of dry pulverized earth, until the odor is destroyed. By this means the vault can in future be used upon exactly the same principle as an earth closet, and if properly attended to it will remain perfectly inodorous and healthy. All decaying animal or vegetable refuse from the kitchen may be deposited there, and a supply of fresh, dry earth kept constantly on hand to cover it. This earth, in course of time, will become a valuable manure, and the vault may be cleaned out without offense to the neighborhood. In regard to the contamination of artesian wells from these vaults, the danger of which we pointed out in a previous article some weeks ago, there is but one way to accurately determine this fact, namely, by pouring down the cesspools in the neighborhood some of the soluble salts of lithia. The least trace of these salts can readily be detected by means of the spectroscope, and a subterranean communication, if there be one, established. All wells thus exposed should at once be abandoned. We do not wish to create unnecessary alarm in the public mind with reference to the advance of an epidemic, but, as by far the largest proportion of our citizens are made up of a well-to-do and intelligent class of men, who are equal to any emergency, they will see at a glance the necessity of immediately preparing against such a contingency. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure, and by taking time by the forelock we can render the city proof against the spread of any contagion. Some one, however, must do the work.

We will also cheerfully give publicity to any aggravated nuisances, which may be maintained or suffered to exist within the city limits.

A NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS.—A slight misunderstanding occurred yesterday morning on the corner of Franklin street and the Union & Titusville Railroad track, about a baker's bill of sixty-four dollars which had been standing unpaid, it is asserted, for two years. The principals in the affair are well-to-do citizens, Mr. Thomas Murray, and Mr. John Megahey. According to the statement of Mr. Murray, he had dunned Megahey for the payment of said bill so often, that if he had received twenty-five cents each time, the bill would by this time have been cancelled. Upon informing Megahey of this fact in rather a peremptory manner, Megahey became violent, and his ecstacy so far increased, that he attempted to put in a blow to still further emphasis the thunder of his ejaculations This species of insanity, however, Murray would not tolerate, so both men clinched and almost immediately fell to the pavement, with Megahey on top. Murray however soon freed himself from his oppressor, and pitched in promiscuously at Megahey's face, closing up his eyes, and sadly disfiguring his benevolent countenance. Finding himself no match for his antagonist, Megahey beat a hasty retreat into his liquor store, and sent forth a savage bull dog to the combat. That dog, however, wouldn't fight, and thus the matter ended for the time. It is almost unnecessary to state that the bill has not yet been paid.

ACCIDENT TO THE MAIL NEAR PLEASANTVILLE.—The mail boy who carries the mail on horseback between that place and Enterprise, rode his horse into a stream while on his way on Monday, and getting into deep water, his horse was drowned, his mail bag went to the bottom, and he was lucky in getting off with a good dousing and wet to the skin. The mail bag was afterwards recovered by some expert diving, after lying in twelve feet of water for the space of twelve hours.

The Empress Eugene, it is reported, is in treaty for the sale of her diamonds, valued at $1,600,000.

Varieties.

—That party of old "pickeral snatchers" who left this city July 5th for the St. Lawrence and its turns and islands, were heard from last Saturday at Rochester, where they were waiting for a circus, as one of the party had never seen a circus, and being for the first time away from the restrictions of the home circle, he was bound to see the elephant, trunk, valise and all.

—A small boy pilfered a decayed pear from a fruit stand on Diamond street yesterday, but the eagle eye of a second "Hawkshaw" was upon him, and he was caught. The boy wept bitterly when informed he must go, to the lockup; he did not care for the confinement, but said "the soldiers' orphans would crawl in the door and windows and plague him." A prisoner in our city lockup does not find that quiet and calm retreat which should be accorded him.

—We omitted to mention that Kennebec salmon and soft shell crabs were served up at the Abbott House on Sunday last in real old down-east style. Mathews will do so frequently during the season.

—The magnificent oil-painting on the front of Clark's block, opposite the Post-Office, representing Neptune on the half shell spearing suckers on Pithole Rills, has been purchased by an oil prince from Hydetown, who will have a swallow-tailed coat and cocked hat painted on the old man, and hang it in his parlor as the representation of the Father of his country crossing the Delaware.

—The prize candy merchants have disappeared from our streets, and the Great American Worm Killer is catching bait in Corry. In a few years these representatives of a peculiar race will have passed from our land, they are fast being exterminated by civilization, and the thought is a sad one.

—Several of the property holders on Washington street, especially that portion of it between Spring and Mechanic streets, are talking of paving the same with the best wooden paving at their own expense, while the city is trying to ascertain whether we have a City Auditor or not.

—A new water well has been put down by John Carter and Thomas Goodwin between their respective buildings, and a first-class force pump is attached which will throw a heavy stream of water when desired.

—The sprightly potato bug is slowly working his way toward the oil region, several scouts having already appeared at Spartansburg, and can be seen sitting on the fences pensively picking their teeth and awaiting the appearance of the early potatoes.

—The versatile and ubiquitous grasshopper is congregating in the meadows now, and is calmly chewing his cud on mullen stalks and thistles, while he rubs his hind legs together in ecstacy, and expectorates tobacco juice in the eyes of the turkey who tries to prey upon him.

—Three new drug stores will be opened in this city within the next ten days, by well-known and respected "pillers" of society, who propose to dredge out the alimentary canal, and make other internal improvements in the bowels of the land.

—Gen. Custer finds his custom increasing since the 'Fourth." Old men who were weaned sixty years ago have suddenly acquired a thirst for milk; but then—

You may scrub out or wash
The wicked as you will,
The scent of milk punch
Will cling to it still.

—The collonade is prevailing to an alarming extent among our young sports, and it is of the deadly Shakspearian kind. The new style is of so extended a size that no shirt is necessary, as the points cover the entire bosom, and in some instances are so long as to chafe the wearer's corns, when well starched.

—Miss Anna Swan, the elongated female who created such a sensation in Corinthian Hall in this city a few years since, has been spliced to a giant in England, and they are now traveling in sections, singing "How is that for high," "Up in a balloon" and other popular ballads. Together this couple measure eighteen feet and seven inches, and they propose to serve in some of the large hotels of the country, as a fire escape for shorter people.

—Fly-time, with its smothered profundity and its effectual series of gymnastics, is upon us. Humane farmers should tie a brush on all animals whose narratives have been abbreviated by accident or otherwise, and people with bald heads can find great relief by smearing their "base ball grounds" with coal tar or asphaltum.

STEREOPTICON EXHIBITION.—Mr. Pitou, of Booth's Theatre, New York, during his summer vacation, intends to bring a Stereoptican Exhibition to the oil region, and will give one entertainment at the Parshall Opera House, on Monday evening next. This series of dissolving views represent some of the most noted scenes in Europe, public gardens and palaces, scenery in England, Scotland, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. Some of these views, like that of Vesuvius, are considerably enlivened by by the mechanical effects introduced, realizing the eruption of fire and smoke from the crater in a most vivid manner. Among the series, deserve to be specially mentioned, the illustrations from Dickens' life, and also Dickens' Christmas Carol. The miscellaneous combine the comic with the picturesque, such as "The Clown and His Dog," "Miss White at the Piano," Life at the North Pole (Aurora Borealis and Snow Storm effects). Altogether, we are sure no more instructive or attractive entertainment has ever been offered our citizens, and it will afford them a decided relief after the long and wearisome round of dramatic performances of the past season. And in this connection we take the liberty of reminding our citizens that the exhibitor, Mr. Pitou, has a sort of claim upon their favor and hospitality. Mr. P, now so well and honorably known as a rising actor, playing Horatio to Booth's Hamlet, and the King to Booth's Richelieu, is the same young gentleman who rendered such liberal and effective service to the Presbyterian Society of this city, six years ago, in getting up their fair, and more particularly their tableaux, which he arranged and equipped from his own private wardrobe of costumes. The ladies will pleasantly remember him, and many of our citizens his fine and striking Shakspearian readings, which were unconsciously to himself a stepping stone to the dramatic profession, which he soon afterwards adopted, by and with Mr. Booth's special advice and encouragement, meeting, as predicted, with rapid and assured success. Mr. Pitou will also exhibit his Stereoptican in Jamestown, N. Y., in Oil City, in Franklin and in Meadville, and as before stated next Monday night at the Parshall Opera House, in this city.

CARD OF THANKS.—At a regular meeting of the Irish American Benevolent Association, held at their hall on the evening of the 11th inst., it was unanimously

Resolved, That the thanks of the Association be given and are hereby tendered to the members of Col. Drake Engine Co No. 1, for use of flag on the Fourth; to Mr. John Megahey for ale supplied on picnic grounds, and to Mr. Chas. Goodsell for services in posting bills and refusing to receive compensation therefor.

Woodlawn Cemetery.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS.

Those whose names appear on the subscription books of the Cemetery as subscribers, but as not having selected their lots, are respectfully requested to do so immediately. As the work we are performing is a very important one for the city of Titusville, and one that will not admit of delay, it behooves every one that feels the least interest in the improvements of our city to aid us all they can. If subscribers, they can do so by paying their subscriptions promptly, and if non-subscribers, they can aid us by their influence. Our expenditures already far exceed our receipts from the sale of lots, and although the season is far advanced and the time allotted for performing out-door work but short, yet it is our purpose to push the work forward to completion as rapidly as possible, if our citizens will only sustain us in this necessary undertaking. And in order that the people of Titusville may obtain a correct idea of the amount and value of the work now being performed on the Cemetery, we extend a cordial invitation to all to visit the grounds and judge for themselves whether the enterprise is deserving their patronage or not. Many of our prominent citizens are beginning to feel a deep interest in the improvements, and visit the grounds daily.

COUTANT & WEBSTER.

BUFFALO RACES.—The Sixth Annual Meeting of the Buffalo Driving Park Association will commence on Tuesday, (lasting four days) August 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th. The premiums offered amount to $50,000. There will be three races on the first day and two on each of the succeeding days. The purse for the last race of the meeting will be $5,000, for all horses, with $3,500 additional to the horse making the fastest time, provided it beats Dexter's time, 2:17¼. This liberal offer will bring out the fastest horses in the country, and will, undoubtedly, decide the question whether there are any horses lying around loose that can beat 2:17¼. Wouldn't it pay the owner of that California horse to bring him out?

All the races are to be mile heats, best three in five, in harness, except No. 4, which is to be mile heats, best three in five, to saddle, and to be conducted according to the rules of the National Association, and all entries must be in accordance therewith. Entrance fee 10 per cent., and must accompany nomination in all cases. Entries will close at the Tiff House, Buffalo, on Saturday, July 29, 1871, at 9 o'clock p. m., on which date all horses must be eligible.

The directors have made an arrangement with Colonel James Fisk, Jr, for his celebrated Ninth Regiment Band, to furnish music during the meeting.

This meeting will probably be the best ever held in Buffalo, and the extra inducements offered for nominations will bring out representatives from the best stables in the country.

Many improvements are being made in the grounds, and an addition is in process of construction to the grand stand, connecting at the east end with those now built. The new seats are to be one hundred feet in length, and the stand will accommodate between two or three thousand people.

A new judges' stand is in process of erection, and with its completion the Association will have what has been needed ever since the summer meetings commenced, a fitting place for those who have so important a position in deciding the races, and a proper accommodation for the reportorial fraternity. The judges' stand will be somewhat after the style of that at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, and will be finished in a tasty manner. The first floor will be thirteen feet from the surface of the track; the second floor nine feet higher, and the lower edge of the roof eight feet above the second floor. The roof will be surmounted by a railing and a flagstaff. The shape of the stand will be octagon and decidedly tasty. It is intended to locate the stand about one hundred feet east from the site of the one used last year. The reporters' "box" will be directly over the judge's floor, and from all accounts nothing will be wanting for the convenience of the lead-pencil-diminishers.

IT is seldom that we speak of the merits of any of the many useful inventions pertaining to the oil business, yet we may call the attention of oil producers to that very useful and almost necessary fixture of an oil well, Dewey's Patent Oil Saver, advertised in our columns. It is certainly worthy a practical trial, as the price of oil approximates that of the good old times when the satisfied smile of the producer illuminated his face. A barrel saved is as good as a barrel pumped. The economy of the oil saver is apparent. Mr. Dewey has instructed his agents to give them out to good parties for trial, with the privilege of returning them if they do not give satisfaction. He says, of the many taken on trial none have come back. He has also made arrangements that enable him to sell them at $8 50, which will place them within the reach of oil producers. As it costs but a trifle compared to the amount of oil saved, it stands among the first inventions connected with and peculiar to the oil business. Several important improvements have been made, obviating some of the objections first raised against them.

INSOLUBLE GLUE.—Common glue can be rendered insoluble in hot or cold weather, by the addition of one fifteenth portion of lichromate of potash, and afterwards exposing the articles to which it is applied to the light. Among other uses to which it may profitably be applied would be coating the inside of oil tanks, or coating wood or iron which is exposed to the action of oil and water alternately. Billiard balls, buttons, and ornaments are largely manufactured from this article, which suggests the idea that it would make an excellent luting, cement, or filling, for leaky joints, and an admirable lining for wooden water pipes, barrels, buckets, and a variety of other articles. It also possesses the advantage of being elastic and not liable to crack.

NEWCOMB & ARLINGTON'S MINSTRELS.—This popular troupe of minstrels will give one of their inimitable entertainments at the Parshall Opera House, on Saturday evening. A Cleveland paper speaks as follows of the company:

This organized company of what is ordinarily called minstrels, commenced a week's engagement at the Academy of Music, last evening, the audience being large and composed of a more than ordinary proportion of ladies. While this troupe carries out in the general features the characteristics of accepted minstrelsy, there is to be found a higher tone in the matter of music, both instrumental and vocal. In the first part we find three elegant singers—Mr. O. P. Sweet, J. H. Sutridge, and Harry Percy, in their descriptive and sentimental ballads, and Arlington and Bray, in the comic. Mr. Donniker is one of the best, perhaps the very best, leaders of an orchestra in the minstrel profession, and has surrounded himself with a sufficient number of accomplished musicians to constitute an orchestra that for artistic execution of really good music has seldom been equalled. It is a pleasure to listen to them. This feature was prominent in the burlesque of "Fisk's Ninth Regiment Band," which, although an extravaganza, the music was correctly played and fully appreciated by the audience. Mr. Hammond is a remarkably accomplished cornet player, his execution being smooth and his tones pure and sweet. In the line of comedy we always expect many good things from Mr. Arlington, Walter Bray and Sam Price, and were not disappointed last evening. A new candidate for public favor in this community was Mr. W. H. Rice, whose specialty is burlesque. He is one of the best imitators of female characters we have seen lately. He sung the ballads "Beware" and "Old Folks at Home," in imitation of Miss Kellogg, and Mlle Nilsson in so nearly a perfect manner that they could readily be recognized by those who had heard those popular singers. In the sketch of the "Liars," he gave in voice and many actions, so correct an imitation of Mr. Bowers in "Lady Audley" that if one had been blindfolded they would have surely thought that lady had been "secured for the summer season" by Mr. Arlington. This afternoon there will be a matinee and another performance to-night. No better place to pass an hour or two of the Fourth can be found than at the Academy of Music. Mr. Arlington will lecture this afternoon and evening on "What he Knows about Farming" It will not take him long to tell it, but it will undoubtedly be interesting.

An Important Petroleum Bill.

A new bill has been introduced to the British Parliament, and is now before the House of Lords, for regulating the sale of petroleum. The most remarkable feature of the bill is the directions for accurately determining the fire test. It is intended that the flashing point be raised to 80 degrees of heat in a closed vessel, instead of 100 degrees in an open one, according to the law at present in force. This is claimed to be equivalent to making the legal fire test 120 degrees, instead of 110 degrees. The importers are considerably alarmed at this projected change, transactions are generally curtailed, and the market for American refined has become almost paralyzed. Our refiners can manufacture oil to stand any test that the British or any other government may require, but it will, of course, cost more money, and until this bill is either passed or rejected, the market for refined will remain in an unsettled condition. The following are the particulars of the proposed test:

"The apparatus to be employed in this test shall consist of—

"An outer vessel of metal shall contain water, about four inches in diameter and four inches deep, so contrived that some source of heat, such as a spirit-lamp or gas-burner, can be applied to it to heat the water which it contains.

"An inner vessel of thin metal to contain the petroleum to be tested, about two inches in diameter and two inches deep, provided with an external rim or flange, above which the edge of the vessel shall rise about one-fourth of an inch, and by which it may be supported in the outer vessel so that its contents may be heated through the medium of the water.

"The inner vessel for the petroleum shall be provided with a cover of thin metal fitting to the edge, which rises above the rim or flange already described. This cover should be about half an inch deep, so that its top may be half an inch above the surface of the petroleum to be tested. In the cover there must be fitted a Fahrenheit thermometer with a spherical bulb, in the scale of which ten degrees shall occupy at least half an inch in length; the thermometer must be placed in such a position that the bulb shall be covered by the petroleum.

"Near the front edge of the cover there shall be a circular opening, and through this the petroleum is to be tested. This opening is to be provided with a small movable cover.

"In making the experiment with this apparatus, the water in the outer vessel shall in every case be heated to 80 degrees Fahr. before the petroleum is put into the inner vessel. When the temperature of the water has reached 80 degrees, the source of heat must be withdrawn. The inner vessel must then be filled with the petroleum to be tested up to the level of the outer rim or flange, which must be indicated by a mark on the inside, and the cover with the thermometer must be put in its place. The source of heat must now be again placed beneath the vessel containing the water, and when the temperature of the petroleum in the inner vessel has reached 80°, a small light should be applied to the circular opening in the cover If the vapor be not ignited—that is if no pale blue flash or flicker of light be produced—the application of the light should be repeated at about every 2° of temperature until the flash of the ignited vapor be observed, and the temperature at which the first flash takes place is the temperature at which that sample of petroleum gives off an inflammable vapor

"In every case a second experiment shall be made to check the results obtained in the first.

"A model of the apparatus described above is deposited with the warden of the standards, and reference shall be made to it in case of any difficulty or dispute as to the meaning of the terms employed in this description.

Miscellaneous.

A Boston paper relates that Edward Everett, when at college, used to walk to Boston, when practicable, on Saturday mornings, carrying the week's soiled clothes in a bundle to be washed, and bringing back the bundle of clean clothes in the evening. There was not then a carpet, a window curtain, a sofa or an easy chair in any student's room; and nearly all the young men brought their supply of water from the pumps, and trimmed their own lamps.

An attendant at Mount Vernon, not long since, found a lady weeping most bitterly and audibly, with her handkerchief at her eyes. He stopped up to her and said: "Are you in any trouble, madam?" "No, sir," she sobbed. "I saw you weeping." "Ah!" said she, "how can any one help weeping at the grave of the Father of his Country?" "Oh, indeed, madam," said he, "that's it! The tomb is over yonder; this is the ice-house."

A farmer named Watt Carr, residing near Hamilton, Ohio, while conversing with some friends on the stoop of his house concerning the manner in which Mr. Vallandigham shot himself, attempted to illustrate it with a loaded pistol, and succeeded in the illustration as Mr. Vallandigham did. He fell instantly, and died in a few hours.

A curious confessor, who had listened with as much surprise as attention to a young woman who had disclosed the state of her mind to him, at last inquired her name. With a presence of mind peculiar to herself, she replied, "My good father, my name is no sin."

It is said that when Brigham Young was asked the other day which son he had at West Point, the conundrum so staggered him that he was obliged to refer to the family record to solve it. "Do they miss me at home?" is not much sung in that family.

A Bridgeport man who impulsively sold his sick horse to a peddler for a gross of matches, is disgusted at learning that the animal is recovering and bids fair to regain his original value.

A little girl wants to know if fleas are white, because her uncle told her that "Mary had a little lamb, with fleece as white as snow."

The late Albert Schumacher, of Baltimore, bequeathed $10,000 of Baltimore city stock to the German Society of Maryland, for the benefit of destitute Germans; $10,000 to the German Lutheran Church of the same city, for educational purposes; $5,000 to the Seefarth, at Berlin, and $1,000 to the Verein Wohlthun, at Berlin. His will was made twenty-seven years ago.

A seven-mile panorama of the St. Lawrence was sold at an auction of unclaimed goods in Boston, last week, for $500. It is said to have cost $20,000.

The Lyman family is to have a grand reunion in Northampton, Mass., on the 30th of August. Rev. Dr. Lyman Coleman, of Lafayette College, (who is writing a history of the family,) Hon. Lyman Tremain, of Albany, and Hon. J. Lyman, of Crittenden county, Vermont, are expected to be present.

Burglars stole everything there was eatable in a dozen houses in one street in Baltimore on Saturday night. Some of the families were left without sugar, coffee, butter or bread for breakfast, and one or two who had lain in provisions enough to last them over the 4th, lost them all.

Cumberland, Md., is boasting of the large increase in business it is enjoying. In one day last week 2,035 cars entered and passed through the city, and it is expected the number will soon average 3,000 daily.

Brigham Young's son at West Point refuses to have anything to do with the colored cadet, Smith, and says "niggers" have no business there with white boys.

California Cherries.

Uncle Ned is a character, a genius, a philosopher. With all his professional antipathy to everything certain, he is occasionally surprised into an acknowledgment of the merits of something brought to his notice. It may be nothing more than the out of a garment, the speed of a horse, the architectural beauty of a building, or the quality or size of some specimen of vegetable production; but he immediately qualifies his remarks with, "Oh, it does very well for those regions—it wouldn't be much in California, though."

We had some very large fine cherries on the table one day last summer. After surveying them for a moment, Uncle Ned remarked that they beat anything he ever saw, and then there was a short pause; "that is to say around here."

"Uncle Ned," said I, "you never saw a cherry in California larger than those."

"Well, perhaps I didn't."

"Why," said I, "how large are they in California, and how do they sell them?"

"Well," he replied, with all the gravity of a judge, "that depends something, of course, upon the season of the year. They vary in size as well as in price. They sell them by the pound, and if you only want a few pounds they generally charge about twenty-five cents a pound; but if you want a whole cherry they'll let you have it for about fifteen cents a pound."

SOMETHING UNLOOKED FOR

Nevertheless a Fact!

J. C. HAMILTON, is prepared now to receive orders for, and execute the same in the best and finest style of the age, anything in the line of PAINTING, such as

House, Sign,
Carriage, Ornamental and Fresco Painting,
Graining,
Paper Hanging,
Decorative or Plain.

I have had the experience of years in the business, and am a PRACTICAL WORKMAN. This, together with the fact that I have in my employ the very best artists in the several branches, enumerated above that can be found, must be a Guarantee of Good Work.

I have secured the services of

late of Philadelphia, who is a good practical decorator and fresco painter, and has proven himself master of his art, and has with him and carries the BEST OF REFERENCES from many different parts of the United States,

MR. T. U. FINCK,

my GRAINER, needs no commending, for his work tells wherever he works. I claim that with my experience and employed talent, that I can give entire satisfaction in every part of the business, and do work as cheap as any other establishment of the kind in the county, or even better and cheaper considering the quality of my work, than any foreign talent that is in our midst. Now all, or any one that has anything in my line to do that will give me a chance, I will prove to their entire satisfaction that I can and will do any part or all that I assert herein, and even more.
